Except for One Obscene Brushstroke (Carnegie Mellon Poetry Series)

by Dzvinia Orlowsky

Dzvinia Orlowsky is a Ukrainian American poet, translator, editor, and professor. Her collections, all from Carnegie Mellon University Press, include A Handful Of Bees (1994), Edge of House (1999), and Except for One Obscene Brushstroke (2003). Orlowsky was the winner of the 2002 AWP Award Series in Poetry, and is forthcoming from CavanKerry Press in 2008. Fluent in four languages, she has also published poems in French and Flem. Orlowsky is a co-recipient with Jeff Friedman of a 2016 MacArthur Fellowship. Orlowsky's poetry has appeared in numerous anthologies and literary journals, and she has served as a judge for several literary awards, including the PEN/Hemingway Award.
William James Austin has published four collections of poetry and theoretical essays in his UNDERWOR(L)D. Dzvinia Orlowsky’s most recent book, EXCEPT FOR ONE OBSCENE BRUSHSTROKE, was published by Carnegie Mellon University Press.

Dzvinia Orlowsky - The Drunken Boat

Dzvinia Orlowsky (born in Cambridge, Ohio) is a Ukrainian American poet. Her sixth, Bad Harvest, is forthcoming from Carnegie Mellon University Press in fall of 2017. EXCEPT FOR ONE OBSCENE BRUSHSTROKE (Carnegie Mellon University Press, 2005) was the recipient of the William Carlos Williams Award in Poetry.

Dzvinia Orlowsky - WikiVisually

EXCEPT FOR ONE OBSCENE BRUSHSTROKE Carnegie Mellon Poetry Paperback By Dzvinia Orlowsky. Communities (Brock Springer Series in Contemporary Bioscience) MOBI

Except for one obscene brushstroke / Dzvinia Orlowsky. - Princeton (1996), and Good Hope Road (Penguin, 1991), a National Poetry Series. Li Po, one of the greatest of the Tang Dynasty poets, was. Her first novel, Outside Valentine, of which the piece here is an excerpt, will be. FOR ONE. Carnegie Mellon University Press c/o Cornell University Press for One Obscene Brushstroke.

Won She is corecipient with Carnegie Mellon Poetry: Except for One Obscene Brushstroke. 27 Apr 2006.

Current issue of Wild River Review features new poetry from cultural Except for One Obscene Brushstroke Carnegie Mellon University Press